

Anti-Aging & Regenerative Medicine Program

For those who wish to achieve and maintain optimal health and function

The Executive anti-aging program. Designed for busy executives who want cutting edge anti-aging medical care and the convenience of concierge service. We do comprehensive lab testing beyond what is typically offered at a standard executive physical - we don't just look for signs of disease, we look for ways to optimize your current function to help keep you at the top of your game. Includes evaluation of the effects of stress, hormone restoration therapy as appropriate, and recommendations for nutritional supplements to boost anti-oxidant status and keep you healthy at the cellular level for years to come. To expedite our services, we arrange for lab testing to be done ahead of time and have our clients complete an extensive personal history form which is evaluated by the doctor prior to the scheduled appointment, then reserve 90 minutes to discuss the results and explain your customized anti-aging program recommendations. Direct email access to our physicians and follow up visits by telephone are available for your convenience.
